Coolidge Makes Plea For Economy In Rejecting Insurance Plan

FOLLOWS ADVICE OF MELLON, LORD

Leaders Confident of Passing Measure In Spite of President

(By United Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—President Coolidge today vetoed the Soldier Bonus Insurance bill on the ground that the measure would prove too great a drain on the nation's finances.

Reports to this effect were made to the President by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and General Lord, director of the budget.

In a long veto message sent to Congress today the President once more stressed the necessity of government economy.

Leaders in the bonus fight expect to call the bill up for passage over the veto at once, first in the house where it passed by an overwhelming majority.

Little doubt is felt that it will not go over in the lower branch but bonus supporters are not sure about their chances of overriding the veto in the senate, where the margin was not so wide.

Sufficient regular administration supporters in the senate, however, have declared their intention to vote against the president in the second vote to make it close.

The bonus measure vetoed by President Harding was speedily passed by the house but failed of re-passage in the senate.

The tenor of the Coolidge message itself may decide the senate result where Senator Watson of Indiana recently claimed a margin of four votes.

The house was in an uproar when the clerk finished reading the President's message. Cries of "vote" rose on both sides of the house.

When majority leader Longworth asked unanimous consent to postpone until Thursday of next week the vote on the veto, there were immediate objections.

The formal roll call the house decided by a vote of 173 to 171 to postpone consideration of the veto until Saturday. Democratic leaders joined with Republican leaders in urging postponement in order that absentees might be present for the vote.

"We have now reached a financial position where we may lighten the tax burden," said the President, "but if we now confer upon a class such a gratuity as is involved in this bill a delay tax relief indefinitely," the message said.

The President said the provis-

George Richardson, proprietor of a parking station on North Main street, eventually will come into possession of $50,000 of the $1,537,000 estate left by his uncle, Frederick Whitney Horne, who died in Pasadena May 10, 1921, it became known here today, following receipt of telegraphic information that probate of the estate had been completed in New York.

Mrs. Emma D. Richardson, 1607 Durant street, mother of Richardson and one of the surviving sisters of Horne, was left a legacy of $30,000. The fund, she explained, was left in trust, and at her death is to be divided equally between her son and his sister, Mrs. Ethel Hennegan, of New York City.

The will of Horne also provides that upon the death of his widow, $35,000 of the estate shall be distributed to George Richardson and the same amount to his sister.

It was stated that the deceased placed in trust a fund of

Deny Reports Sun Yat Sen Dead In China

LONDON, May 15.—Canton officials ridicule reports that Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the "South China Republic," is dead, the Hongkong correspondent of the Central News telegraphed today and attributed the report of his death to the fact that he has been incomunicado because of a fortnight's illness.

The foreign office in Pekin announced Sun Yat Sen's death officially yesterday, but it never has been confirmed from Canton.

Reports of the death have been circulated for the last three days.

Wilkesbarre Reports Damages Will Total $500,000 as New City Park Hit.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 15.—The Susquehanna river went out of its banks early today, flooding sections of the new $500,000 Kirk park and lowlands along the west side.

Reports from up the river this morning indicate that a large volume of water is on its way down. The creeks and tributaries are swollen by the recent rains and it is believed the river will reach flood stage soon.

SPEND BIG SUM IN EFFORT TO SAVE VESSEL

(By United Press Leased Wire)

MONTEREY, Cal., May 15.—One of the most carefully planned and costly attempts to float a wrecked vessel on the Pacific coast in recent years will be made Saturday night when wrecking crews of the Triton-Chapman-Scott company of New York try to pull the tanker Frank H. Buck off the reef in Monterey Bay where she went aground May 3.

High tide will come at 9:26 o'clock Saturday evening, and if the boat baffles the attempt to pull her into the sea, other trials will be made on Sunday and Monday nights. These failing trials will not again be sufficient to permit the work for twenty-eight days.

Under the bow of the vessel have been placed eight hydraulic jacks, having a lifting capacity of 400 tons. In the ship's 26 empty oil tanks pipes are laid for the turning on of compressed air. Stretched from the vessel to heavy anchors 2000 feet away are seven steel cables, each with a pulling capacity of 150 tons.

With this equipment the wreckers expect to be able to move the vessel. Holes drilled in the rocks will permit the use of light charges of blasting powder if it is found necessary to remove any of the rocks.

Water now holding the stern of the boat down on the reef will be pumped out just before the attempt is made to move the vessel.

RECOGNITION FOR RUSSIA BORAH AIM

Friends of Soviet Government to Seek Plank In G. O. P. Platform

WASHINGTON, May 15.—An influential group of leading Republicans, including some senators, will seek a plank in the Republican party platform at Cleveland, looking towards American recognition of Russia if, as is expected here, France accords recognition of the regime.

Senator Borah, long an advocate of a broader Russian policy, probably will lead the movement.

Borah is slated for membership on the resolutions committee which will report the platform. The fight he put up at Chicago four years ago was largely responsible for modification of the foreign relations plank.

Plan Wide Campaign

Russian relations generally, and Russian recognition in particular are to be emphasized in the campaign by Borah and other speakers, who hold the United States cannot legislate prosperity for its farmers or business men but must seek it by establishing relations abroad that will re-open to the fullest degree all world markets.

The uncompromising stand of Secretary of State Hughes against Russian recognition has had its effect on American public opinion and in addition there is a disposition not to regard this as an important question, so far as the bulk of the people are concerned. But to Borah and others who have studied it in the light of America's world economic position, the question is paramount. They intend to convey to the people this summer reasons why it is important.

Wide Publicity

They plan to do this by raising the question at the Cleveland convention when the discussions will be assured wide publicity. They will follow by submission in public addresses a complete proposal for intelligent handling of the Russian question in much the same way as the Mexican problem was solved—through appointment of a commission to meet with a similar Russian body for discussion and formulation of a basis upon which relations can be renewed.

DARING RACER HURT IN PRACTICE SPIN

(By United Press Leased Wire)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 15.—Harlan Fenger, race driver of Kansas City, had a miraculous escape from serious injury or death when his automobile crashed into the retaining wall during practice at the Indianapolis motor speedway today.

Fenger was taken to St. Vincent's hospital, where it was said he was not badly hurt. The car was damaged to such an extent mechanics were doubtful whether it could be repaired in time for the races on Decoration day.

He was unable to say what caused the car to plunge into the wall.

DOCTOR DECLARES SUNDAY IMPROVED

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 15.—"The condition of Billy Sunday is decidedly improved—more than hoped for," his personal physician said at noon today after a consultation with specialists at Mayo Clinic.

The evangelist has not yet undergone an examination.

Billy and "Ma" Sunday arrived from Memphis in their special car early today and were taken directly to the Kahler Hotel by Dr. W. J. Mayo, a close friend of the famous evangelist. Sunday is suffering from kidney trouble.

Mrs. Sunday, injured by an automobile truck recently, was taken from the car in a stretcher.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Representative John W. Langley, Republican, Kentucky, under sentence to two years in Atlanta penitentiary for conspiracy to violate the liquor laws, is seriously ill here, threatened with a paralytic stroke.

His voice and one leg are affected and he is unconscious at times, it is learned.

NEW YORK, May 15.—Surrogate James A. Foley this afternoon reversed his decision and positively declined to accept the leadership of Tammany Hall. The action was entirely unexpected and came after previous announcement at the Wigwam on Fourteenth street that Foley had accepted.

Richardson, it is said, has received notice from surrogate's court, New York City, summoning the various heirs to court on a designated date in June, when it was said trustees of the estate would make a settlement.

HALT PARDON GRANTED BY PRESIDENT

Court Holds Executive Is Without Power In Contempt of Court Case

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, May 15.—President Coolidge is not empowered to extend clemency to persons imprisoned for contempt of court. Federal Judges Carpenter and Wilkerson decided today in reversing the President's pardon of Philip Grossman, Chicago saloon keeper.

Grossman was sentenced to one year in jail in February of 1921 by former Federal Judge Landis on a charge of contempt of court for violating an injunction to close his saloon.

Efforts to secure a pardon were started and the case was brought before President Harding. Harding's death at a temporary halt to the proceedings.

Never in jail

Several months ago President Coolidge announced the pardon and it then developed that Grossman had never served any of his jail sentence.

Judges Carpenter and Wilkerson, sitting en banc today declared the President could not interfere in contempt cases for so to do would rob the judiciary of its power.

Upon announcement of the judges' decision, Grossman was taken into custody by the United States Marshal and brought into court. Grossman's attorney asked for time in which to take new legal steps, but the court, while granting the request for argument intimated Grossman would have to serve the sentence.

The court stated in part:

Rights Limited

"We are of the opinion that under the constitution the executive cannot draw to himself all of the judicial powers of the nation by controlling the inherent and essential attributes of that power—the authority to punish for disobedience of orders of the court."

After reading the decision, Judge Carpenter and Judge Wilkerson denied the request of Grossman's attorney for extension of time for an appeal. Grossman was taken to the house of correction to begin his year's sentence.

The court in favor of the defendants in the case of Albert Fuller against Ray Lambert, George C. Wells and Glen Wells, members of the board of supervisors; J. L. McBride, superintendent of county highways; Mayor J. W. Tubbs, Nat H. Neff and C. C. Chapman, members of the Santa Ana city council; Z. B. West jr., city attorney; George Dierker, George Dunstan, Henry Rohrs, Mat Nisson, citrus growers, and Horace Fine of The Register. Delegations also were to be present from the north half of Orange county. With the exception of Whitsell, McBride and Fine, the men named are members of the tri-counties reforestation committee.

Flood Damage Cited

Composed of twelve men from each of the three counties, the committee was scheduled to meet at 11 o'clock for transaction of committee business. An open meeting was scheduled to begin at 1 o'clock, for general discussion of the problem of control and conservation and of plans for solving the problem.

According to Francis Cuttle, of Riverside, president of the committee, Orange county in 1916 suffered a flood damage of $250,000. Four lives were lost. He says in San Bernardino county two lives were lost and property damage reached an aggregate of $39,000.

Citing these losses in support of his contention that the three counties should join in efforts to promote conservation operations on a large scale, Cuttle, in a recent statement, said it was his opinion that the people of the three counties were not sufficiently aroused to be willing to go down into their pockets and help in appropriating the oil.

He added:

"The three counties of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino, if they could get the people behind them, would be strong enough to go before the legislature at its next session and ask for a large appropriation."

The total property value in involved is said to be over $2,000,000. One of the Den heirs is Mrs. Katherine Bell, wife of John S. Bell, who two years ago helped to break the will of Theresa Bell, eccentric San Francisco woman.

Here Is the Real
Style News for the
Straw Hat Buyer

SAILORS

or yacht hats lead the list, of course; and these this year are running in bleached and natural (ecru) shades, not too dark. The straws and weaves are varied but no one weave is more stylish than another. Some brims are flexible and some stiff but all are so improved that they fit the head most comfortably. The Swiss or Yeddo straws are very popular, this season. They are feather weight and self-conforming. The bleached straw is best.

PANAMAS

are next to yachts in popularity. Don't be misled into thinking that no one will wear a Panama; in the right shapes they are never out of style. The biggest selling shape will be a modified fedora in a natural or ecru shade. And one of the swagger styles is a small Optimo shape with a "flip" brim. It's a very good for the young man who wants the best looking beach hat.

LEGHORNS and BANKOKS are never out of style, either; the shapes change, of course, but the niceness of the straw—their comfort and stylish appearance keep them very popular.

HUSBAND DENIES DIVORCE CLAIMS

Charges brought by Mrs. Grace E. Golden against her husband, Thomas F. Golden, 1025 1-2 Cypress avenue, Santa Ana, were being heard today by Superior Judge Z. B. West, in whose court here the trial of Mrs. Golden's suit for divorce commenced at 10 a. m.

Mrs. Golden based her complaint upon allegations of non-support and cruelty, declaring that she was forced, on account of her husband's treatment of her, to leave him in March, 1921. They were married at Elsinore in 1902 and have six children, three of whom are married.

Golden was summoned to the witness stand today and denied that he had failed to provide his wife with support. He also denied mistreatment of her.

Attorney Clyde Bishop represented Mrs. Golden and Attorney John B. Nichols appeared for her husband.

TEXTILE CHIEFS TURN EYES TO SANTA ANA

Southern California, and the south part of Orange county in particular, is destined to become an important center for textile, knitting and allied industries, according to eastern mill operators, machinery makers and engineers who have recently had their attention called to conditions existing here. It was learned here today. Information from various sources, it was said, indicates that textile workers from the east and southeast are giving this section of California earnest consideration.

That there are special reasons for the attention Southern California is getting is indicated by the remarks of M. H. Merrill, of Merrill & Company, well known textile engineers and architects who have heretofore had their headquarters in Boston and Dallas, but who have recently established themselves in Los Angeles. In a letter received here Merrill says:

"Some of the reasons why we are giving our attention to Southern California follow:

"Conditions in the East are such that further development in textiles and knitting in that section are doubtful. Labor conditions are very bad as there are many nationalities, which means a diversity of languages in the mills, causing inefficient co-operation in the plants. Labor wages are high and strikes are frequent.

"Power rates are high compared with your section, and if the mill generates its own power it is confronted with a very high fuel cost. With the constant movement of population westward the eastern mills are getting farther and farther away from their markets.

"The boll weevil is creating serious havoc with the cotton crop in the southeast. California has available a very large cotton supply, and the best wool and silk in the world is right at your door.

"Mills can be constructed and operated more economically there than in the east and southeast, and working conditions in Santa Ana are better. Referring back to labor conditions, I should say that your section is particularly fortunate, so far as textiles and knitting are concerned, taking into consideration the Spanish and Mexican elements. This class of help is far more eminently fitted for textile mill work than the colored help of the south and east, owing to the fact that the Spanish and Mexican people, for generations have been engaged in needle and drawn work and are consequently nimble and deft of finger, which is of prime importance in textile operations. Plenty of high-grade American help also is available.

"I believe the time is at hand when Southern California must go ahead industrially if it wishes to maintain the rate of growth it has enjoyed in the past. People who have property holdings should realize that the support of local industries is essential to their own prosperity."

J. C. Francis, another well known industrial expert who has recently left Boston to establish himself in Southern California, cited an example of the advantage which Southern California has over eastern centers, with regard to labor conditions. Checking up a recent strike in a large concern in Boston, Francis discovered that the striking men represented thirty foreign countries, speaking twenty-seven different languages. The labor trouble in Eastern mills invariably arises from the failure of the workmen to understand each other, Francis said.

LONDON, England, May 9.—The lawns of the London Zoo are kept in trim by scores of geese, who give the weeds a close shave with their bills. South American llamas have been turned loose on the more grassy lawns for the same purpose.

S. A. TO GREET
LEGION FOLK

Members of the Mooseheart Legion of the World numbering close to 500 will gather in Santa Ana Sunday to initiate more than 150 new new members, according to plans announced today by Herman Goodman, local leader, who has been busy for the past week laying extensive plans for welcoming and entertaining the visiting members. New members from at least a dozen Southern California cities will receive the second degree of the Unity Legion, as the local order is known.

Of the hundreds of members of the order who are expected to be here are a score of movie stars, including Larry Seaman, well known comedian, and who is said to be one of the leaders of the order at Hollywood.

Candidates from Los Angeles, Long Beach, San Pedro, Pasadena, Compton, Torrance, Venice, Hollywood, Whittier, Anaheim, Huntington Beach, Huntington Park and Alhambra will receive the second degree rank.

All of Sunday morning will see the arrival of the guests and the first meeting will be held at 1:00 o'clock, in the French building, 409 West Fourth street. Initiation of candidates will start promptly at the same location, which session will be followed by a banquet to be held at the Odd Fellow's hall at 6:30 p.m. In the evening a vaudeville entertainment will be given for the visitors.

A high pressure water pump with a capacity of 2000 gallons a minute was received here today by Walter Wray, city water superintendent, for installation at the Sixth and Olive streets' reservoir. The pump is to be operated by a 150 horsepower motor and will be put into action whenever the pressure in the water mains is low, thereby reducing fire hazards and aiding the remote districts which have small mains, Wray declared. Installation of the new pump will be complete within a week.

Scores of Santa Anans would have sworn it was the hottest day of the year here today. It wasn't. Although Old Sol beat down rather heavily and pedestrians without coats were numerous, local thermometers at 12:30 o'clock showed it to be only 82. The thermometer reached 88 during the "warm spell" two weeks ago.

Considering themselves particularly fortunate in securing the Rev. W. L. H. Benton for their May meeting, Book Review members held a most interesting session Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Nealey.

The Rev. Mr. Benton chose a delightful subject for his talk, "An Adventure in Books," selected for the meaning of the word adventure—an event the issue of which is determined by chance. The word adventure has been commonly associated with Columbus, Drake and others who have explored in the realm of things but applies equally well to the realms of books especially modern fiction which can often be advantageously read from the book, one chapter or, two brings quite sufficient for the adventure.

Mr. Benton gave several thoughts to be used as guides in faring forth in this adventure. One of the first things to be considered is the kind of book to be read. The multiplicity of books of modern times makes this important and of the great multitude of books so few deal with fundamentals and so many with someone's view of fundamentals.

Mr. Benton spoke of the modern poetry, much of it very beautiful but much of it neither good verse nor good English.

A second guide in dealing with books is their influence upon the individual. It is always the book with which we become thoroughly familiar and which we love that leaves a permanent effect and, a few books well known, will have more influence than great numbers hastily read. The value of a book lies not in its outward appearance but in its effect which depends on what the author wishes to say to you. It is only through books that the souls of men of past ages and at great distances can speak to the souls of other men.

Perhaps the greatest of the guides in the adventure in books is the friendship that can be established. Books are the most lovable things in the world and become real friends. Mr. Benton mentioned a few of his own best friends, "Two Years Ago," by Kingsley; "The Cloister and the Hearth" by Rude and "Nicholas Nickleby" by Dickens.

People find another great pleasure in the entertainment afforded by reading good books. This is the place filled by the humorous works of George Ade and John Kendrick Bangs and many others. This is also the field of the story teller although Mr. Benton feels that many modern novelists put up men and women of straw and knock them about as they please and produce a book neither entertaining nor beneficial.

Election of officers followed the talk and discussion and resulted in the re-election of Mr. C. S. Crookshank, president, Mrs. Robert Northcross, vice president and Miss Jennie B. Lasby, secretary.

To aid in raising money for the gift, which is an expensive one, Mrs. Maud Putnam and her dancing class of children, will give a benefit revue at Laguna Beach Community house on May 22 when the program given recently at the local high school auditorium will be repeated. Miss Mildred Smith will give added dance numbers and Master Bruce Monroe will sing.

Final details both of the benefit and of poppy day will be discussed at the welfare meeting of the auxiliary tonight at Legion hall.

TOBACCO FAR NORTH

MONTREAL, May 9.—Tobacco may be grown in every part of Canada, even north of the 55th degree, a bulletin of the Canadian Pacific Railway announces. The tobacco plants are grown as are cabbage. When it is felt certain that the last spring frost has occurred, the plants are set out. One Alberta farmer, living well above the 55th degree, has never failed to produce a crop.

AUCTION RARE STAMPS

NEW YORK, May 9.—Rare stamps discovered a year ago in a mass of old paper consigned to a New England paper mill by a New York junk dealer were sold at high prices at an auction sale here recently. An envelope which was carried through the Confederate lines from New Orleans, four months after the start of the Civil War, brought the highest price.

The musical program in charge of Mrs. Herbert M. Sammis, had Modernism as its theme, delightfully and illustrated by music, song and paper. Miss Maurie Samil opened the musical hour by playing three brief piano numbers by Palmgren, a modernist of moderns. These were the dainty "Cradle Song," "May Night" and what is declared to be his masterpiece, "The Swan." All were most artistically rendered.

Mrs. Sammis followed with a vocal illustration of the theme, singing "Tes Yeux" by Robey and "At Night" by Rachmaninoff. Her excellent paper presented in most interesting form, her own conclusions as to the merit and longevity of the works of the modern composers. Mrs. Sammis advanced as her belief that few of the compositions might be expected to endure as have the works of the old masters, with the possible exception of those of De Bussy whose compositions she averred were extremely beautiful and destined to live, and those of a few Russians, notably Rachmaninoff.

The fairy lace-like compositions of De Bussy were then illustrated by Miss Hamill playing "The Little Shepherd," "The Girl With the Flaxen Hair," and "Gardens in Rain," the most technical of the three. Mrs. Sammis brought the program to a close by singing in her finished manner, "Carnival" by Fodraine and "Faltering Dusk" by Kramer. Miss Ruth Armstrong played the accompaniments for all the songs.

As the guests chatted over the program during the social hour, they had the surprise of a dainty ice cream and cake course in lieu of the customary tea and wafers, the hostess committee composed of Mrs. Hamill, Mrs. B. F. Tarver, Miss Leonora Tompkins and Miss Mary Taylor feeling that the occasion was a special function, thus deserving of special refreshments.

The next section meeting, concluding the day's work, will be an evening one held in June in the clubhouse.

SEEK KIDNAPED
YOUNGSTER IN CALIFORNIA

SEATTLE, Wash., May 15.

After an all night search for five year old Billy Cummings supposed victim of two women kidnapers, the police have found no trace of the youngster today. They have extended the search to California.

The child, who was playing in the yard of Mrs. C. Worden where he has been living, disappeared late Wednesday. Several of his playmates told Mrs. Worden that two women in an automobile had stopped at the curb and taken the child with them. The women, when asked by the other children where they were taking Billy, replied:

"To California."

The fairy lace-like compositions of De Bussy were then illustrated by Miss Hamill playing "The Little Shepherd," "The Girl With the Flaxen Hair," and "Gardens in Rain," the most technical of the three. Kiwianians Celebrate
Mothers' Day and Greet Wives

Mothers of today and mothers of yesterday were honored at a well-planned meeting of Kiwanis club when the members not only had the honor of entertaining wives and mothers but were enabled to offer the hospitality of the new M. C. A. building for the weekly luncheon and the semi-occasional "ladies' day" held yesterday.

The enterprising hosts were the first of the city's organizations to make use of the cool and pleasantly arranged dining-room of the Y and the event was a noteworthy one even in Kiwanian annals. As members and their guests entered the main lobby, they were presented with either red or white carnations, an indication of the nature of the program to follow.

Led by President R. R. Miller and Mrs. Miller, herself a mother of a pair of lively potential presidents—or Kiwanians—the crowd of approximately 150 persons soon found their places around long tables arranged in the basement dining-room where a most appetizing luncheon was served by women of the First Christian church.

George R. Wells was presented with the gavel for the meeting over which he presided in his capacity of chairman of the educational committee. Announcing it to be a Mothers' day program he asked that members accompanied by their mothers introduce the honored guests. Responding to the suggestion were five men, W. W. Whitson introducing Mrs. M. M. Whitson, Arnold Peek introducing Mrs. Jennie A. Peek, Fred H. Taylor introducing Mrs. Fred G. Taylor, William S. Kellogg introducing Mrs. Kellogg's mother, Mrs. Iva M. Webber, and Lloyd Abbott introducing Mrs. W. W. Abbott.

Of course where Kiwanians are, there singing will be, and the entire dinner hour was marked by lively songs led by Leon Eckles with Earl Fraser at the piano. But a more formal musical program had been planned and Miss Ruth Helen Oakes, Santa Ana's harpist, who is winning new laurels daily, was introduced. Playing with a rare touch, she gave "Song Without Words" followed by Robinson's "Melody." Miss Oakes possesses an exquisite feeling for the harp and causes it to transmit its harmonious message to her hearers in a manner truly remarkable. Her final number came at the close of the program when she responded to the enthusiastic demand for "more" by playing a lullaby composed by her eastern teacher, Rogers. The sense of drifting on the waters of sleep was perfectly rendered by the soft rippling music and it was amidst utter silence that the Kiwanians and their guests listened to the beautiful number.

Miss Alice Folsom, a pupil of Mr. Eckles, was then introduced and sang two delightful numbers, "I Know a Hill" and a lovely, lilting Irish folksong. Miss Folsom's voice has the vibrant quality of youth in addition to its sweetness and strength and her numbers were highly appreciated. Mr. Fraser played her accompaniments and at the close of the program, shared with the two soloists, the plaudits of the guests.

Introduction of the Rev. Otto S. Russell followed and in a tenderly sympathetic vein, the speaker launched on his subject of "Mothers."

Mothers of today, he declared to be no different in essentials from the revered mothers of yesterday, and that upon them depended the future of the state, since the home depended upon the mother absolutely and the home of today indicated the country of tomorrow.

"When mothers go from the home, the entire nation is endangered" declared the speaker further asserting that the well-known saying that every great man had a great mother, had been proven true in case in history. Mary Ball, the splendid mother of George Washington, Byron's mother, Napoleon's mother who trod the hills of Corsica as though she mounted a throne and finally Mrs. Webster who denied herself that her boys might be educated, thus giving to America her greatest statesman, Daniel Webster, were among those cited.

And it was with tender voice indeed that the Rev. Mr. Russell brought his fitting talk to a close by quoting in its entirety, Kipling's immortal

"If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o' mine, mother o' mine,
I know whose love would surround me still.
Mother o' mine, mother o' mine."

"Love's Old Sweet Song" seemed a fitting finale to the luncheon and by request, Leon Eckles sang the final stanza with members and guests joining in the chorus.

Many lingered to accept the invitation of Ralph C. Smedley, Y. M. C. A. secretary, to inspect the building in all its details of lobby, auditorium, gymnasium and rooms.

OVER 150 IN COUNTY CAUGHT IN ASSERTED $100,000 FUEL STATION FRAUD; SEEK FOUR

With disclosures of asserted fraud made in connection with the sale of more than $100,000 worth of stock in the Dixie service station chain, a criminal complaint charging John Saxon Porter of Los Angeles, missing promoter, with violating the corporate securities act, was filed here late today.

Other complaints, making similar charges against Leslie Graham of Anaheim, asserted manager of the organization, and at least two members of Porter's family, were likely to be filed, according to the statement emanating from the district attorney's office here.

That virtually all of the funds, representing proceeds from the sale of stock to between 100 and 150 Orange county citizens, have disappeared with Porter, Graham and the others, is the belief of the authorities, they say, but the official investigation so far has failed to indicate that a much greater sum than $100,000 is involved.

Meanwhile, one completed service station at Orange and three others, half finished, located in Olive and Anaheim, have been left behind by the promoters as landmarks of what the authorities profess to view as a potentially gigantic fraud.

Investigations recently instituted by the state corporation department upon receipt of a complaint from Hamilton M. Lawrence, 613 South Flower street, Santa Ana, culminated late yesterday in a decision to prosecute the promoters. This decision was reached following conferences between Chief Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozley here and Russell Keach and Edwin B. Cassidy, investigators from the corporation department, who laid the results of their investigation before the local official.

As a result, Lawrence, who is said to have invested $1000 in the service station chain, was scheduled to swear to the criminal complaint this afternoon.

Other investors in the scheme were named as L. C. Miller, 118 West Broadway, Anaheim, owner of the site on which one of the service stations was being erected; J. H. Wente, 151 North Pine street, Orange; W. C. Mattheis, 195 North Shaffer street, Orange, and C. E. Werick, 4935 Fifth avenue, Los Angeles.

Late yesterday Keach and Cassidy engineered a raid upon Graham's apartments in Anaheim, securing a few papers and a list of names, believed to be of investors, but finding nothing of apparent importance to their quest, it was said.

Graham, it was reported, has been absent from his apartments for a week and his whereabouts are unknown. Porter, said to have been head of the organization, lived in Los Angeles. His son and daughter-in-law are said to be involved in the enterprise, according to the district attorney's office.

Porter operated under a permit from the corporation department authorizing the sale of $250,000 in stock. The plan provided for issuance of convertible merchandising agreements with the stockholders, the investigators learned, by which the latter were to be supplied with gas and oil from the service stations at a discount of 10 per cent. It was declared by stockholders that each one who subscribed to as much as $500 worth of stock, the smallest possible amount, was promised a service station job, at stipulated salaries of $135 per month for employees, $150 per month for assistant managers, and $200 per month for managers. These agreements, the authorities maintained, were manifestly beyond reason.

Lawrence made his complaint when he failed to receive his certificate of stock, which the promoters, it was alleged, having failed to live up to their permit, could not produce. One of the conditions of the permit was that a certain sum subscribed be placed in escrow in an approved depository. So far the authorities are said to have discovered only a small sum to the credit of the concern in a Los Angeles bank.

Members of Ebells Fifth Household Economics section were pleasantly entertained yesterday at the ranch home of Mrs. Cool Adams where hostess duties were shared with Mrs. Hugh Plumb and Mrs. Otto Haan, the trio presenting a daintily prepared and served luncheon at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. J. W. McCormac, Ebells curator, was honor guest while another interesting guest was Mrs. Grace Wilmet, a representative of the Quaker Lace company of New York and former writer for Good Housekeeping. Mrs. Wilmet appeared on the afternoon program talking most interestingly on interior decorating, the department she had in charge while on the magazine staff.

Household hints at roll call of offered many new and clever ideas to the assembled women. Following the program they discussed plans for the rummage sale to be featured Saturday, and also planned the nature of the salad which they will furnish for the Ebells dinner, Thursday night, May 22.

Asks for Briefs In $20,000 Auto Suit of Woman

The case of Miss Maude Heffner against former Sheriff C. E. Jackson, involving a claim for an attached automobile, amounting to nearly $20,000, will be decided on briefs submitted by attorneys for the principals, it was made known today.

Superior Judge Z. B. West, in whose court here the trial was held, ordered briefs to be submitted, allowing twenty-five days for the plaintiff's brief, twenty-five days more for an answering brief, and an additional ten days for plaintiff's rebuttal brief.

Jackson, then sheriff, attached the car in 1921, in connection with a suit filed against L. J. Heffner, supposed owner. Heffner's sister, Miss Maude Heffner, then sued the sheriff, claiming ownership of the car and asking $1000, representing its valuation, and $20 a day for each day it was withheld from her.

MASONIC HOME IMPROVEMENT OF $125,000 IS APPROVED

PLAN MISSION STYLE

Construction Expected to Be Well Under Way By
Middle of Summer

Plans and specifications for alterations and additions to the present Masonic building which, when completed, will give Santa Ana one of the finest Masonic temples in the state, today were in the possession of contractors. It was announced here today, and bids for the remodeling and other structural work will be opened at 2 p.m. June 3 by the A. F. and A. M. board of trustees.

During the past few months several tentative plans were announced, it was said, but the lodge now is ready to carry out the latest adopted plans without changes. The new structure will be three stories high and will occupy all of the space of the present building on Fifth street, but will increase its Sycamore street frontage to an additional thirty feet to include the property previously occupied by the Orange County News.

While it has been estimated that a saving of more than $30,000 will be made by using interior structural supports and the basement foundations of the present building, the completed cost of the new work is expected to approximate $125,000.

The interior walls are solid brick and will have a stucco finish in colors to blend with the terra cotta polychrome finish for all outside ornamental work. The general effect will represent a Spanish design. Mission tile of variegated colors will be used for the even-

To Finish Spur To Glass Plant By Sat.

"The railroad spur for Santa Ana's new glass factory in the central manufacturing district, will be completed in two days," it was announced today by Robert E. Brown, industrial realtor, who added "and pending shipment of material for constructing the plant buildings which will cover ten acres, workmen were cutting streets through the fields to the factory sites."

"The firm of Brown and Moore," he continued, "today is announcing the sale of $10,000 worth of lots in the central manufacturing district, all purchased by a Los Angeles man.

"Our firm also has secured the services of K. M. Kalbfell, of Los Angeles, as sales manager."

Two pieces composed by Mr. Andrist will be played during the evening, they being the "Mazurka Caprice" and the "Santa Ana March." Other pieces which will feature the program are, "Spring Song," "Twilight Meditation," "Humoresque," and others.

Among the pupils of the school to be heard in the recital will be Miss Thelma Nordstrom, who will sing several solos. Violin, mandolin, piano, vocal, chorus, and orchestra numbers will be heard during the program. Others to appear during the evening will include, Majorie Ann Mathes, Gussie Lanfranco, Eileen Wolff, Marvin Wagner, Miss Edna Warner, Harry Kadau, Alvin Edwards, Miss Josephine Durgan, Edgar Tooles, Marion Nau, Lloyd Folger and George Kling. To Raze Old Home For New Dwelling

W. Hamilton of 519 West Tenth street today announced his intention to build a one-story stucco building for a double store at 2323 North Main street. The building, he said, will be occupied by a Sam Seelig market. The double store will be seventy feet long and sixty-two feet wide, and the structure will cost $5,000, Hamilton declared.

The Waste Spaces

Nearly every house has its "waste places"—deserted looking rooms or corners.

To transform these spaces into interesting and inviting bits of comfort is an art.

Built-in features are the logical solution, for they can be adapted to any situation and are merely a matter of boards and a carpenter. Or the handy man of the house might even achieve some good looking effects himself.

RUSH WORK OF MAKING PHONE PLANT READY

Equipment of 75,000 City
May Be Placed In New Exchange In S. A.

Rapid strides were being made today by more than thirty workmen on Santa Ana's new telephone exchange, which was rapidly nearing completion and which should be ready for service early in July, if present plans are carried out.

The work of laying the giant cables from the old office at 504 North Main street to the new office at the corner of Fifth and Bush streets was completed this week. The Western Electric employees who are engaged in installing will complete their task sometime in June, and the local force will be ready to start service through the new building thirty days later, according to a statement made by E. S. Morrow, local manager.

Santa Ana has completely outgrown the present switchboard capacity, and too heavy a load even now is being carried on the old switchboards, necessitating all persons who order telephones at this time to take party lines. An individual line in Santa Ana at the present time is virtually impossible, Morrow stated.

The present switchboard capacity is said to be sufficient only for a city of less than 20,000 inhabitants, while approximately 3,000 numbers are now being handled by the local system.

Plan for City of 75,000

The new building and system are entirely different insofar as capacity is concerned. The new boards, which are now being installed and which are being tested by a large force of workmen, will accommodate 8,000 numbers, and, according to figures that have been compiled by the telephone company, will take care of a city of 65,000 to 75,000.

But the telephone company, realizing that even this will not take care of Santa Ana in the few years to come, has constructed its building so that another story can be added to the present new three-story building, and room has been left for additional switchboards and operators' chairs at the present switchboard.

A force of fifty-six operators handles the business coming over the local lines at the present time," Morrow said. "This is a larger force than generally is found in a city of this size, because the telephone traffic in Santa Ana is larger than in most cities in the Southland," he explained.

The long distance operators here are given more to do than even the operators in a town the size of San Diego. Long distance traffic has been heavier here than in San Diego for some time."

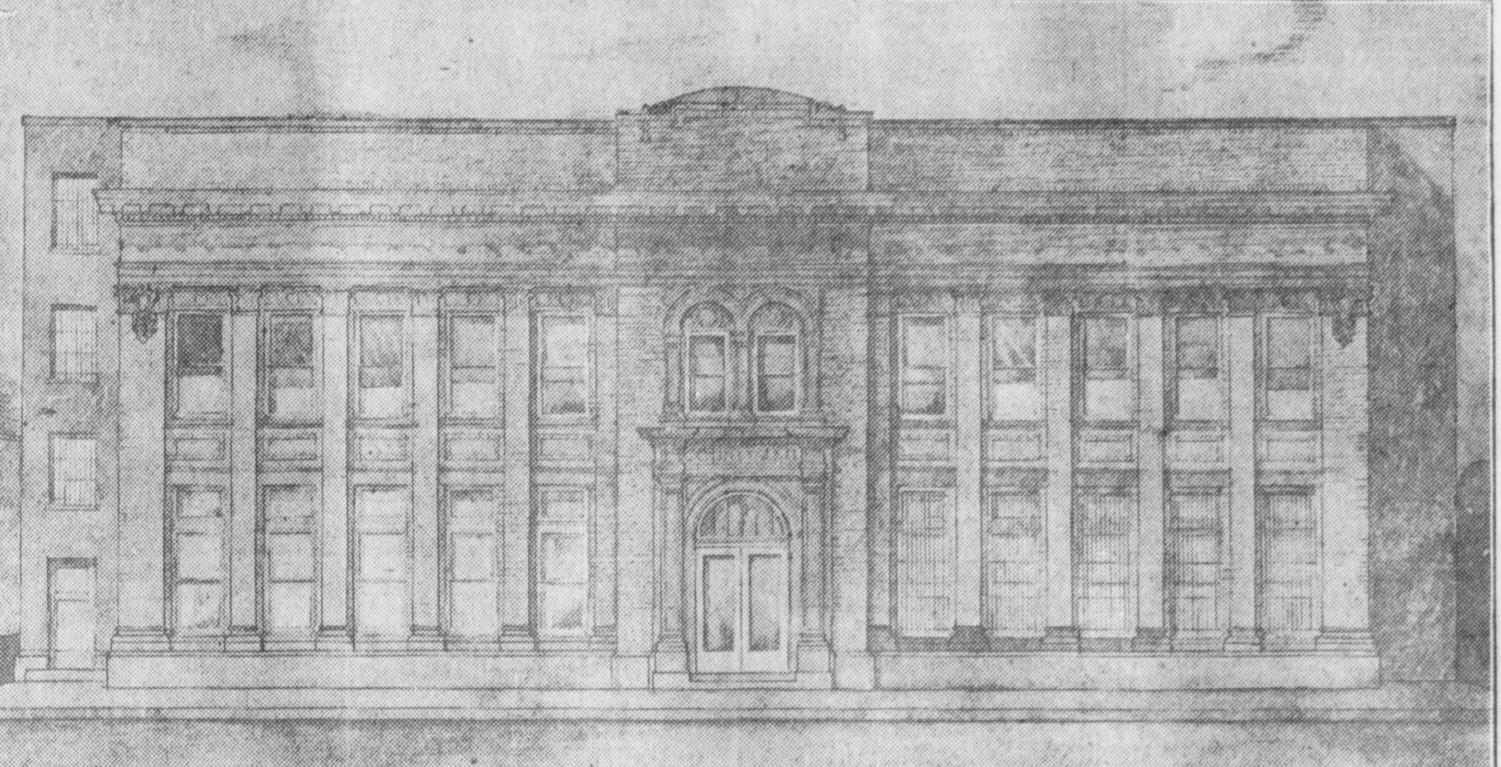

Morrow stated that he did not know the reason for this, unless it was the fact that the rates here are more reasonable and that the patrons of the company were taking advantage of them more and more daily.

Well Equipped

In regard to the building itself, telephone officials say there is not a better equipped telephone

$200,000 COUNTY JAIL TERMED BEST ARRANGED IN STATE

The new three-story $200,000 county jail, designed by Frank K. Benchley, Fullerton architect, and now being constructed on Sycamore street opposite the court house by Chris McNeill, local contractor, has been ranked first in the state by the state board of charities and correction. The reinforced concrete structure is patterned after the hall of records, and will contain many unique features not duplicated in any other jail in California. Under present plans the jail will accommodate 325 prisoners, though the building easily may be enlarged by adding one or two stories in future years.

WILL COMPLETE CLUBHOUSE BY NEXT WEEK

The new Ebull clubhouse, a magnificent structure costing more than $70,000 exclusive of all furnishings, will be completed in about a week, it was announced here today by officials of the telephone company, will take care of a city of 65,000 to 75,000.

Workmen now are finishing the bachelors' tile entrance which appropriately "sets off" the Spanish architecture. It is expected that the lighting fixtures will be installed immediately.

The building committee of the Ebull club is receiving much praise for the businesslike way in which the building program was handled. Considerable personal effort was used by each member of the committee, it was said, to make the structure fulfill the needs of the organization.

This committee consists of Mrs. O. M. Robbins, Mrs. N. A. Beals, Mrs. Susie M. Rutherford, Mrs. P. A. Robinson, Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Mrs. E. M. Nealey and Mrs. J. E. Gowen.

The clubhouse will be used for the first time May 22, when a banquet will be held to mark the occasion of the opening of the long-desired structure. The dedication ceremonies, however, will be held May 26, it was announced.

ASSERTS CALIF. CIGAR FACTORY OPPORTUNITY GREATEST MAY EMPLOY 100 HERE

The opportunities of the West were never so great as they are now and California is destined to become one of the leading population and industrial centers of the world, were the key notes struck by Charles W. Hesler, president of the California Development association in an address made this week to the membership. Hesler's statement follows:

"The opportunities of the West were never so great as they are now.

"California was first famed as the Golden state due to the fortunes discovered in her mountain sides during the '49 gold movement. Since that time wealth out-shadows the riches of her minerals has been discovered and developed. California is famed for her agricultural wealth, is unsurpassed in her horticultural wealth and in recent years her growing industrial wealth has been a national if not a world-wide topic.

"The developed and potential hydro-electric power of California is greater than that of any community in the world. The oil fields of California are among the richest in the world, and in natural resources and crude material California has a wealth beyond limitations.

"The trend of population is westward; the trend of industrial development is westward. California's population today is about 4,000,000 and within the next decade it is fairly estimated that double this number of people will be settled in California. We have here an immediate potential development for a population of 30,000,000.

"A close analysis of past history and present trend of development would tend to show that California is destined to be one of the leading population and industrial centers of the world."

A most interesting process is used in the manufacturing of cigars here, and Pitner and Weber invite the public to visit their plant during working hours.

"After making a careful investigation in numerous Southern California cities," Weber declared, "we decided to become established in Santa Ana because of the ideal climate, the excellent labor available, low rent and many other good reasons."

The leading brands of the local cigar factory are the "Sample Case," "Colonel," and "Callett" cigars.

ERA OF VAST PROSPERITY OPENING, IS VIEW TOLD

Optimism Shown For Future Development Merited, Borne Out By Facts

BY NORMAN HENDERSON
Register Development Editor
More than $1,000,000 in building construction is supplying work for men in Santa Ana today.

The cost of thirteen of the larger buildings alone and which are now in the course of construction is $1,016,000, and this figure may be greatly enlarged by adding the cost of the smaller buildings and the many homes being erected at the present time. Neither does the amount include factories to be constructed immediately.

While Santa Ana's bright future is being lauded daily at club luncheons and meetings of all kinds, citizens deem it unnecessary to comment on the present because the city's assured future development seems almost unbelievable.

But facts prove that the great strides which have been made and are being made right now are unbelievable also.

Era of Prosperity

A vision of the future thrills every Santa Ana citizen with a feeling of prosperity, but for getting the future—prosperity is in the air right now.

It is not necessary to take other fellow's word about present conditions; the person whose eyes are open cannot help but see that prosperity is being enjoyed at the present board.

The new industry has just been begun under the firm name of Pitner and Weber, and the company has secured a twenty-year lease on the entire second floor and part of the basement of the 50x116-foot brick building occupied by Sylvester-Roehns, on East Fourth street and the Santa Fe tracks.

Both Franklin R. Pitner and C. B. Weber, who organized the business, have had a great many years' experience in the manufacture of cigars, and they have succeeded in securing the assistance of Thomas Eyster, said to be one of the fastest cigar-makers in the west. Eyster turns out 2500 bunches a day, which keeps three expert hand-rollers busy.

"Since we have been established in Santa Ana," Weber stated today, "we have made the gratifying discovery that Santa Ana climate moistens and softens the dry tobacco leaves so that they may be worked much easier and better in Los Angeles and other localities."

The Pitner and Weber company has started business with twenty employees, bringing five Los Angeles families to Santa Ana. The company is planning to increase the force to 100, Weber announced.

While Orange county is consuming most of the products manufactured at this time, Pitner and Weber have received substantial orders from most of the western states.

The wrappers and fillers for the made-in-Santa Ana cigars are shipped directly from Holland and Cuba, Weber declared, adding that the Connecticut and Ohio tobaccos are used in the lower priced cigars made by this company.

A most interesting process is used in the manufacturing of cigars here, and Pitner and Weber invite the public to visit their plant during working hours.

"After making a careful investigation in numerous Southern California cities," Weber declared, "we decided to become established in Santa Ana because of the ideal climate, the excellent labor available, low rent and many other good reasons."

The leading brands of the local cigar factory are the "Sample Case," "Colonel," and "Callett" cigars.

Paint

BLISTERING RAYS
that never reach your house!

BEAUTIFUL, bright days are ruinous to ordinary house paint. The sun's ardent rays blister and crack the surface. Then rain comes pelting in. Moisture seeps in every opening—every break. And moisture carries decay.

But those blistering rays will never harm your house if you paint it with SUN-PROOF PAINT.

SUN-PROOF PAINT will stand between your house and the burning sun. It is elastic—it contracts and expands with the weather—it is nonporous—no moisture can get in.

Now is the time to be thinking of painting. Think now of the protection that Sun-Proof can best give your home. It is a Pittsburgh Proof Product.

MISSION STYLE TO FEATURE MASONIC BUILDING FOR WHICH BIDS ARE ASKED

This architectural drawing shows the proposed three-story Masonic temple, to be constructed at Fifth and Sycamore streets on the site of the present Masonic building and on an additional frontage on Sycamore street. The temple will contain modern stores on the main floor, and will have inviting club rooms, ladies' parlors, two kitchens, lodgerooms, ballrooms and other desirable quarters. Plans and specifications for this building already are in the hands of contractors.

to be arranged for dance purposes and small entertainments, and has a modern stage especially adapted for use of the Eastern Star in the women's lodge work.

There are also kitchen facilities and buffet equipment on the first floor for use during social activities.

The second floor will contain large quarters, with men and women's parlors adjoining. The present main lodge room is to be increased in size and will have a seating capacity of nearly 500. A new lodge room on this floor also has been planned, with a seating capacity of 150.

The third floor will contain a large ballroom, 90 feet long and 45 feet wide, with stage facilities. A kitchen and buffet will adjoint this room also. Apartments for the janitor and caretaker of the building will be on this floor, according to the plans.

Interior New.

All of the interior arrangements are new, and not patterned after the present building, it was said. Special attention has been given to decorations and furnishings, and an artistic appearance is assured throughout the new temple.

A modern heating and ventilating plan will be used, whereby the lodge rooms and social rooms are to be heated by the hot blast system, with fresh air inlets and foul air exits, all automatically controlled. Heating and ventilating under remote control to each lodge and social room are a distinct feature.

The artificial lighting of the new temple also has received special attention. An indirect and independent system will be available in all lodge rooms. The lights will be concealed, producing a very pleasing effect.

Members of the Masonic order here spent many months in planning their new home, and these plans and specifications finally adopted were drawn up by H. Newton Thornton, Santa Ana architect.

It was predicted that the construction work on the new Masonic temple will be well under way this summer, if the bids meet the approval of the committee.

URGES BUILDERS FILE FINISHING HOME NOTICE

This is the sixth and last installment of articles by George Wells, president of Orange County Builders' Exchange, who has advised necessary precautions in constructing homes.

"File a notice of completion. First agree thoroughly with your contractor that the building is completed, which will constitute final acceptance of his construction work; then within ten days after completion, record a regular legal form of 'notice of completion' in the county recorder's office. Within thirty days after you do this, any material man, laborer or subcontractor must file his lien or it will not hold against the property. It is thus a simple thing to assure yourself that there are no unpaid claims on the building which will be held against your property. If you do not record a notice of completion, then ninety days are allowed after completion for filing liens. Completion dates from the last work done."

Building Here to Be Grocery Home

The old residence of Mrs. Emma J. Alsbach at 1284 Grand avenue will be razed, it was stated today by the owner, who disclosed her intention of replacing the old building with a modern five-room residence and garage. The new home, she predicted, would cost approximately $3500.

A. Noe building near Third and Ross streets is being extended nearly fifty feet, the second story to be constructed over the auto service station on the corner. Work is being rushed on this improvement, so that the building will "keep up with the rapid growth of the town," as Noe explained.

Four stories on South Main street at Bishop street are nearly completed in the large brick building just erected.

Much progress is being made in the $39,500 greenhouses being erected for Amling brothers, florists, at Fifth and Sullivan streets.

The telephone exchange building here, costing approximately $100,000, is completed at Fifth and Bush streets and equipment is being installed.

The Bell club house, costing about $65,000, at French and Stanford streets, and the new $42,000 county juvenile home on Fruit street near Grand avenue, are expected to be completed within about ten days.

And it would be impossible to enumerate all of the smaller business buildings and all of the residences now in the course of construction here.

To the observer who really observes, prosperity and business activity are evident in all parts of Santa Ana.

The giant cables laid this week are something new in Santa Ana. In each of the cables are 2424 wires, showing the faith the telephone company has in the general increase in population to be had by Santa Ana in the next few years. These cables are the largest that ever have been placed in the system here.

Jail Termed Best In State

tion of having constructed the Orange county court house, in 1900, and it is considered one of the most substantial buildings in this part of the state.

Commenting on the locking devices to be installed in the new building, Sheriff Sam Jernigan stated that the board of supervisors had chosen the best and most modern system on the market, similar to the one recently installed in the great county jail at Cincinnati. This device with the cell fronts, grills and doors will cost $60,000, it was disclosed.

Pressure on a lever in the jailor's quarters will open any individual cell, any group or all of the cells simultaneously, the sheriff explained.

Instead of the old-fashioned iron beds in the cells, strong strips of canvas stretched in a leather strap frame will provide more sanitary and comfortable bunks for the prisoners. These canvas bunks may be easily washed and fumigated, doing away with the necessity for mattresses and springs.

The new jail will be ready for occupancy next October, it was announced today by those in charge of the construction.

NEW GAS STATIONS FOR SANTA ANA AND ORANGE

That a number of new oil stations are being planned for Santa Ana was revealed yesterday by William A. Webster, manager of the construction company bearing his name, and P. B. Kellogg, manager of the Shell Oil company who were in Santa Ana inspecting sites for filling stations to be erected here.

Webster said that stations would be built in Santa Ana, Fullerton, Anaheim, Orange and down the highway to San Diego and sold to individuals.

Men of industry, said Mr. Webster, who live in the community will be given first opportunity to purchase a station. Each station will be sold on a specially arranged installment plan, payments being stretched over a long period of time.

The stations will be of the most modern type of steel and glass construction; equipment will be of the very latest type—and when completed will be equipped with every device for the handling of oil and gasoline business. Applications for purchase must be made immediately and forwarded to William A. Webster, 327 West Oak St., Glendale, Calif.

Hair Glory

One minute a day gave it to me

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is my greatest glory. It grows finer every year. I have never had falling hair or dandruff, never a touch of gray. Mine is a grandmother's age, yet countless girls who see me on the stage and elsewhere, envy my luxuriant hair.

So with mother. She died at the age of 57 with hair like mine today. So with many friends who use my method. They have beautiful hair, and it does not lose its color.

I am convinced that millions, in my way, can multiply the beauty of their hair. And I have arranged to bring that method to them.

A French formula

My mother and I, many years ago, found this formula in France. It had been developed by experts whose whole lives had been devoted to hair study.

One factor in it combats the greatest enemies of hair. They stifle the hair roots, check hair growth, choke the supply of pigment which gives hair its color.

Other factors stimulate and fer-

Construction of Duplex Under Way

Construction of a six-room duplex residence and a double garage today had been started at 1405-1407 North Garnsey street. It was announced here today by Miss Nell Johnston of 410 West First street, owner of the property. Between $4000 and $5000 will be spent on the new building. Miss Johnston stated.

MORE NEW HOMES IN S. A. PROJECTED

Plans for the erection of several new homes in Santa Ana were made public today when the city building inspector issued permits to George Spencer and F. G. Spencer of 113 Halladay street; The Santora Land company, with offices in the First National Bank building here, and H. J. Harris of the Central market.

The Spencers will build a five-room residence and garage at 1416 West First street, at a cost of $4000.

The Santora Land company today ordered contractors to break the ground at 2418 Fairmont avenue for a five-room stucco bungalow and garage to cost approximately $6000, it was reported.

H. J. Harris secured his permit for the construction of a six-room residence and garage at 912 Kilson drive.

S. A. FIRM NOW MAKING FOOD FOR CATTLE

Keeping pace with the rapid development of Santa Ana, the C. C. Collins Packing company, with plant on East Fourth street, today was operating a new department. The Collins company, with the assistance of Ed Lamb, a grain expert, it was announced, has branched into the manufacture of scientifically prepared foods for dairy cows, calves, steers, pigeons, poultry, rabbits, hogs, horses and goats. The new product is being made under the Collins brand.

A mill will be constructed when the new business increases sufficiently, according to present plans. Walter Collins, manager of the company, incidentally announced that the Collins packers "put up walnuts, beans and dried fruits that were shipped to all parts of the United States and Canada. More than 850 tons of walnuts alone were shipped by this firm last year."

The new product, however, he said, is a natural blending of grains from Iowa, Colorado, Nevada, Japan and the Imperial valley, according to Collins, "with the correct combinations of feeds that will produce more energy in horses, more milk from cows and more eggs from poultry." There is also a fattening feed for poultry and animals, Collins said, that is being manufactured by his company.

"The new product," he added, "is composed of the best sorted grains that can be purchased, and we use no by-products."

PESSIMISM IN SOUTHLAND IS SCORED

An undue, and in many respects, unreasonable spirit of pessimism pervades the business community of the Pacific-Southwest, due to conditions, which, while fairly serious, are nevertheless transitory, is the statement contained in the monthly summary of conditions in the Pacific-Southwest, compiled by the research department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings bank and the First Securities company, and released for publication today.

Basically, the summary continues, this territory remains sound and the present tendency toward liquidation in certain lines is but a healthy reaction following a period of extraordinary activity. It should but lay the foundation for continuing prosperity. In other words, in spite of the difficulties created by the sub-normal precipitation of the present year, by the hoof and mouth disease, and by reduction in speculative activity, the present period is primarily one of consolidation of gains in strong hands, elimination of pyramiding, and preparation for expansion in the coming cycle of economic development within the Pacific-Southwest.

The agricultural situation was considerably relieved in many districts by climatic conditions during April. Rain fell in sufficient quantities of to be of value and growth of crops in general was stimulated by moderately warm temperatures. Citrus fruits have been blooming well. The approaching valencia crop, while somewhat below normal in size due to the dry winter, has matured rapidly and the quality and texture is good. Lemon growers are now harvesting a very heavy crop. Weather conditions have been beneficial to walnut groves.

Preparation of bean land has been under way and planting will be largely completed during May. Grains have been greatly benefited by the rains and a 60 per cent crop of normal of wheat and 50 per cent of normal of barley is expected. The first cutting of alfalfa will soon be completed.

A general diminution of hysteria over the foot and mouth situation is attributed to confidence in the consolidation, under federal supervision, of all forces fighting the disease and to the success of the governor's committee in Washington in obtaining a reduction of the embargoes against California products.

Industrial production showed no tendency to increase, but greater activity is generally anticipated during the next sixty days.

Real estate turnover has been less, and some important commitments in building construction are being held in abeyance. Petroleum output continues to decline in the Los Angeles Basin, but is holding up fairly well for the entire state.

Building permits and bank clearings, while somewhat below previously established averages, are traceable to probably temporary conditions and are well above a year ago. Collections are fair, and there is some unemployment which is being partly absorbed by growing agricultural requirements.

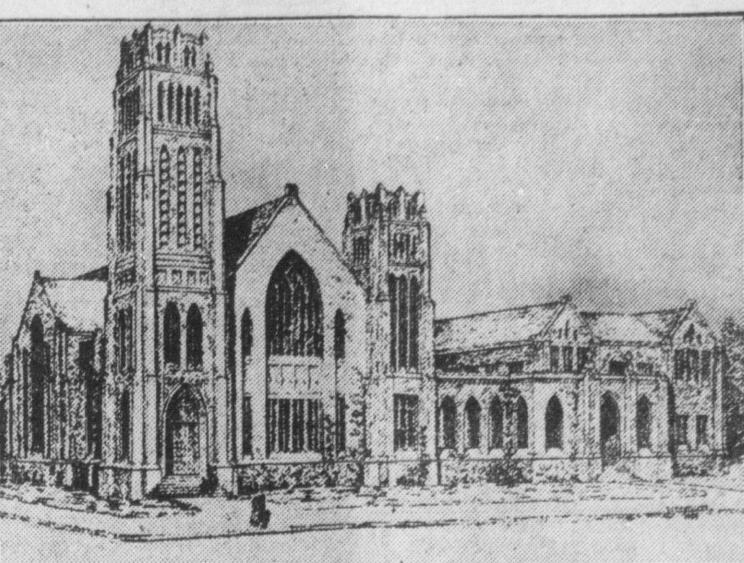

1000 Legionnaires of Cal. to Parley

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—California Legionnaires, 1000 strong, will attend the annual national meeting of the American Legion, to be held in St. Paul, September 15 to 19 and do honor to National Commander John R. Quinn, a fellow Californian.

Three special trains, one from the San Joaquin valley, Quinn's own district; another from Los Angeles and a third from Northern California and the Bay section, will be chartered for the trip, according to the tentative plans. A rate of one way fare for the round trip to the conclave has already been secured.

"Since then, and as I have further considered the question from different angles, I am more convinced than ever of the value and importance of this enterprise. For

ANAHEIM PRESBYTERIANS TO ERECT $150,000 CHURCH AS MEMBERSHIP SHOWS STRIDES

Here is the architect's perspective of the proposed First Presbyterian church of Anaheim, estimated to cost $150,000, which the Rev. Thomas H. Walker, pastor of the church, says may soon be erected on the church property in the "Mother Colony" at the southwest corner of West Broadway and Clementine street.

Unusual features will be embodied in the new $150,000 house of worship of the Anaheim First Presbyterians, it was stated today by H. M. Patterson of Los Angeles, who prepared the plans for the church.

The massive towers are the outstanding feature of this structure which is of Gothic design and is to be built of solid brick. It is very much like the First Presbyterian church of San Diego. The auditorium with its gallery will comfortably seat $80, and is to be equipped with pipe organ and chimes.

The matter of securing pledges of a sufficiently large amount to support the project so that actual building operations may commence in the near future is in the hands of a committee consisting of M. E. Beebe, chairman; Wm. T. Wallops, Mrs. O. H. Renner, George W. Sloop, Frank N. Gibbs, H. G. Archibald, Arthur Coons, Mrs. F. K. Day, Dr. H. A. Johnston and O. H. Renner. While this committee has been working only since the tentative plans were accepted, it feels encouraged at the response made by those who have been approached.

The social hall and Sabbath school building has three floors.

The ground floor contains the dining hall, kitchen, junior department, men's Bible class and restrooms.

The chapel, church office, women's parlor with its kitchenette, cradle roll, beginners, primary and intermediate departments of the Sabbath school are on the first floor.

Young People's Endeavor assembly, Sunday school office and classrooms occupy the second floor.

An open court between and a covered cloister connecting the buildings adds to the beauty and convenience of the plans.

Every one of the forty-eight separate classrooms is provided with daylight, and the arrangement of departmental assembly rooms agrees with the most progressive ideas in Sabbath school organization.

Encouraging growth in the membership of the church has been noted from time to time.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen of Rochester, N.Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of costly study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the body's muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally commanded a treatment that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he made, to all the others who took it with what might be called marvellous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He caused these instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allenrin with the understanding that if the first pint bottle did not bring about a quick recovery he will gladly return your money without comment. C. S. Kelly Drug Co. can supply you.

MASTERFUL PRESENTATION OF HAYDEN'S 'CREATION' STIRS ORANGE AUDIENCE

ORANGE, May 15.—"In the beginning God created the heaven and earth; and the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep." This theme held an enthusiastic audience spellbound, here, Wednesday night, when the Orange county Oratorio Society presented "The Creation," inspiring religious masterpiece, written by Joseph Haydn. The presentation, elaborately staged at the high school auditorium here, scored a distinct hit, winning the instant plaudits of an appreciative audience.

The principal characters—Eve, portrayed by Alice Forsyth Mosher, brilliant Los Angeles soprano; Adam, taken by Leslie Brigham, bass soloist; Uriel, enacted by Raymond Harmon, tenor, were admirably handled. Miss Mosher and Mr. Brigham took dual characters, also portraying the roles of Gabriel and Raphael.

The religious theme, upon which the production is founded, coursed through the oratorio with gripping effect. Every character down to the chorus put heart and soul into their singing, creating a lasting impression among those fortunate enough to hear the production.

The singing was wholly inspiring, the choruses, given great volume by eighty voices, being featured by brilliant work. From beginning to end the audience was held spellbound by the celestial strains from the religious offering, which took its place among the leading productions of its kind ever staged in Orange county.

Brilliant accompaniment was supplied by the Los Angeles philharmonic orchestra, thirty members of which organization occupied the pit. The production was staged under the direction of F. C. Sabach, conductor, whose directing played a prominent part in the success of the oratorio.

HUSBAND SAID WHY NOT TRY IT

Wife Said She Would. Result, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

East Hardwick, Vermont.—"Last winter I was not able to do any work at all. I had backache, headache, sideache, and was sick all the time for six months. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and my husband said to me, 'Why don't you try it? So I said I would, and he went and got me a dozen bottles. It has done me more good than I can ever tell, and my friends say, 'What have you done to yourself? You look so well.' I tell them it is the Vegetable Compound that makes me so well and strong. There is no use to suffer with backache and pains. I will tell everyone what it has done for me.'—Mrs. Fred. Primo, Route No. 2, E. Hardwick, Vermont.

WALNUT MEN AT ANAHEIM GET FAT CHECKS

Final Payment For Culls of Last Season Made to County Growers

ANAHEIM, May 15.—Walnut growers in the Anaheim district were today receiving the final payment on culls harvested last fall, establishing a new record not only in the early receipt of payments, but in the amount received for the crop, according to Walter Ross, secretary-manager of the local association.

The final payment on the culls averaged twelve cents a pound which is an increase of approximately five cents over the amount received last year. The marketing of the culls at this date in the year is also an unusual feature, since the last payment on the crop was not expected until December of 1924.

That walnut growers will receive a good price for their crop this year was indicated by the report that for the first time in nine years, the sale of imported walnuts would be exhausted by the time the domestic crop is harvested.

The market is usually burdened with large shipments of foreign nuts, which not only delays the sale of the local crop but also decreases the price received by the growers.

It was stated that only half the amount of culls usually handled by the state association were placed on the market this year, indicating the marked improvement of the crop.

D. Price; Bible, one hundred years old, St. Clair Woods; silk hat, J. M. Cockerham; a very neat master's gavel made from the wood of a tree planted by Lafayette, George Washington's yard at Mt. Vernon, Dr. C. C. Violette.

James Allen Knapp, worshipful master, is well known to all Masons in Orange county, having been an active member of the order for seventeen years and master of the Anaheim Lodge in 1912.

There is no doubt that Garden Grove will develop one of the strongest lodges in the county. The members of the new lodges are very enthusiastic and feel that their ambition to have a temple will soon be realized. As a start toward this goal, J. D. Price chaplain, has offered a lot at $1250.

The regular meetings of the Masonic Lodge will be held the second Monday of each month at the grammar school building on East Ocean avenue.

The following are the charter members:

John Davy Price, James Alton Erapp, Edward Hiram Darling, Clarence Travis Anderson, Frank Austin Monroe, Moses S. Ryan, John Adam, McLaughlin, James Hazen, Hart, Palmer, N. Larson, Benji, Min Robert, Walter Porte, James Hart, C. C. Violette, John Charles Mitchell, Frederick Hosiak, Felberg, R. L. Coats, Roscoe J. Jappincor, Jerome Merrill, Woodworth, Charles C. Violette, Gilbert Ashley, Richard Hart, St. Clair Woods, Wiley B. Hale, William Thibaut Lambert, Harry Ames.

A committee consisting of W. M. Kelsey, Mrs. Wisner, M. B. Allen, Mrs. Straw, Mrs. J. A. Knapp, Mrs. P. N. Larson, Mrs. J. O. Arkley and Miss Ella Dodson was appointed to take up the work of raising money for the cabin. Over two hundred dollars has already been received by the faculty and high school students and it is their desire to commence the erection of the building at the close of school.

A large attendance both morning and evening greeted a gospel team from the University of Redlands at the Baptist church Sunday. Richard England was the speaker at the morning service. His subject was loyalty. A ladies quartette composed of Miss Thelma Patterson, Miss Alice Moore, Miss Lorraine and Miss Thelma Patterson furnished the music for the services. Miss Thelma Patterson was the speaker at the B. Y. P. U. service. Kenneth Wallace spoke on the evening on the subject, "To obey is better than sacrifice." The speakers gave their message in a very interesting, instructive and forceful manner. The music consisted of duets and quartettes of a high order and sang beautifully and feelingly and was greatly appreciated by the hearers.

A PUZZLE A DAY

The label on the tin can is not very intelligible but perhaps it will give a clue to what the can contains. If the letters composing the three words "Near Side Fins" are rearranged properly, they will tell what is inside in two words.

Yesterday's answer:
STMBBNGHNSNN;
SLPPGNNSPDSN.

"I" is the letter which must be inserted in the two lines of letters. If it is set at the right places, it tells the tale of the old tavern-keeper, who:

"Sits imbibing in his inn;
Slipping in insipid sin."

A Case of Blackmail

ORIENTAL RUGS APPROPRIATE FOR HOMES

There has been a popular rumor the last two or three seasons that oriental rugs are not good form. They are not the latest. This, of course, is untrue. Good taste in furnishing does not change with the styles in millinery, and what is basically good in decoration is likely to remain so, even though popular fancy varies. The pendulum having swung much too far and flooded the market with so-called oriental designs in the cheapest of floor coverings, now swings to the other extreme, and solid color carpets take the floor so to speak. The latest, at least, demands plain carpets and rugs.

Appropriateness and attractiveness should guide our choice between plain and figured floors.

Where good oriental rugs can be afforded there is nothing more lastingly satisfying if they are appropriate for the situation. Authentic antiques are not now with in the reach of many of us, but there are beautiful modern rugs of Eastern make in which the old patterns are faithfully copied and the colors skillfully blended and which will become even more beautiful in time.

Large, striking patterns and vivid colors should be avoided.

No matter what the type of rug used, the floor must remain a background.

Plain Carpet Has Advantages.

There is much to be said in favor of the plain-color carpet, and in a small room or with figured walls it is undoubtedly best. A plain floor gives a feeling of greater spaciousness, and serves to tie the various units of a room together. The floor need not be of the same color as the wall, but having it so is a simple trick for acquiring unity and coherence.

Do not have your carpets in direct contrast to your walls. With light cream or tan walls any darker shade from faun to tete de negre might be used. It is better not to have too dark a floor with too light a wall, unless the wall space is much broken up by windows, doors or other masses.

With light gray walls use a rug containing gray, plain gray, in combination with a color, or a decidedly grayed tone of another color, such as a dull gray green, gray blue, or even a gray amethyst.

A room will look larger if covered entirely or nearly so by a single rug. Seamed carpeting to the baseboard is again in high favor, our modern wizard, the vacuum cleaner, having removed all objection to the score of hygiene. If a border of floor is to be left uncovered, a 12-inch or radiator margin is a good allowance. Where the floor shows, care should be taken that there is not too great contrast of tone between floor and rug.

Former objections to the score of hygiene. If a border of floor is to be left uncovered, a 12-inch or radiator margin is a good allowance.

INNOCENT YOUTH IN BANK ROBBERY FREE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Back from sixteen months in prison for a crime he did not commit, Salvador Mendez, 24-year-old Mexican and his two babies today.

Mendez was convicted of participating in the Arcadia bank robbery of 1932, along with Braulio Galindo and Juan Hernandez. All were sent to San Quentin—wrongly, the state now knows.

With the arrest three months ago of Hubert Kittle, aviator, who later committed suicide, the innocence of the Mexicans was proven. Mendez is free now. The other two men, because they have former jail records, will not be liberated until certain legal formalities are completed.

Argue Withdraws From Pentathlon

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—With the withdrawal of Cliff Argus, Occidental star, the triumvirate of Charles Lewis, Otto Anderson and Morton Kaer are due to battle for the pentathlon at the coliseum here.

May 24.

The trio all met recently in the decathlon tryouts, won by Lewis. Kaer is hoped to walk off with the glory in the coming tryouts, however.

EVENING SALUTATION
The secret that doth make a flower a flower,
So frames it that to bloom is to be sweet,
And to receive, to give,
No soil so sterile, and no living lot
So poor, but it hath somewhat still to spare
In household odors.

ARE MAKING PROGRESS

Orange county residents in general have welcomed the authority of federal officials in the fight against the foot and mouth disease, and have co-operated fully in the demands made upon them.

It is recognized that the federal authorities are experts in handling quarantine campaigns of the sort necessary to rid the state of the disease. They have been through four such fights, and have won them. At one time the disease spread from the Chicago stockyards into twenty-one states almost in a week. The slaughter method was used in controlling the disease, which was stamped out.

Stories in which assertions are made that "we always had this disease back East and we never thought of killing the cattle, for all we did was isolate the diseased stock awhile," are without foundation. Federal veterinarians make that point emphatically clear.

Without questioning the sincerity of those who make such statements, the fact is that those who make them are talking about some other disease. In the United States, England, Norway and Sweden no other method beside the slaughter method has been used, and the reason it is used in those countries is that the disease has never gained a permanent foothold in them. It is only in the Argentine and in Australia and in other countries where the disease has gone beyond all possibility of control that slaughter is not used. Slaughter is the most economical way of handling the fight. That has been demonstrated and is recognized by veterinary authorities as the truth.

Better kill a few thousand or a few tens of thousands of heads of cattle than have the livestock of the land permeated through and through with a disease that forever afterward would take its toll.

Authentic reports from federal authorities indicate that the epidemic in Southern California herds is well in hand. There may be some set-backs, but, we are satisfied, adequate quarantine and proven methods are now in use. Hysteria is largely eliminated. Scientific handling of the fight under experienced heads, with state and county officials everywhere co-operating with the federal authorities, seems quite certain of ridding Southern California of the disease within a short time.

WE'RE FOR THESE MEASURES

By acclamation, residents of Orange county declare themselves in favor of a measure to stop the pollution of the Pacific with oil.

Everybody in Orange county goes to the beaches, and everybody—that is, nearly everybody—has disagreeable experiences to relate concerning oil on the beaches. If the oil has not spoiled a fine dress it has smeared the bather's feet.

Therefore, 100 per cent strong, we welcome legislation proposed yesterday at Washington. The bills provide that the Secretary of War shall have power to make regulations concerning the discharge of oil from vessels using American ports.

The Southern California problem is no different from that found elsewhere along various shores. Oil tankers, approaching a loading port, pump out the bilge. This is done at sea. The oil floats until it lodges upon a shore. For the past three years the presence of oil on Southern California beaches has been a growing nuisance, and no progress has been made in riding ourselves of the nuisance. It is to be hoped that Congress will rush through and make effective one of the two anti-oil pollution bills introduced yesterday. And if one isn't strong enough, pass both.

And in addition to that, the California legislature, next spring, might while away its time putting through a few measures that might be used to make things uncomfortable for those who pour oil on the quiet waters of the Pacific.

THE RADIO TAX

Just why the Senate proposes to tax radio sets and materials is hard to understand. The estimated receipts are about $10,000,000, a rather trivial part of a budget of three billions or so, but a nuisance to several million radio enthusiasts, a burden on many of them, and surely a bother for the government to collect. And this at a time when the public has been led to expect tax reduction instead of new levies, with the abolition of "nuisance taxes."

It is strange, too, that radio, of all things, has been picked on, inasmuch as it is so overwhelmingly popular and has such great amusement and educational value alike for rich and poor, city folk and country folk. It might be supposed that Congress would want to encourage radio development instead of discouraging it, and especially avoid placing any needless burden on so genuinely useful and democratic an institution. It might be supposed, too, that Congress would want to avoid needless unpopularity in an election year.

If that $10,000,000 is needed, it might better be obtained by saving it out of departmental budgets running up into the hundreds of millions.

Toledo Blade—Up to date all Senator Magnus Johnson has done to help the farmers was to win second place in a milking contest in which there were only two entries.

WHAT OWLS FEED UPON

Another naturalist comes to the defense of certain birds widely regarded as nuisances. He defends particularly the great horned owl, often called the "tiger bird" and "demon of the forest."

He watched the activities of a pair of such demons during their nesting period, visiting their nest every day for two months to see what the owls were killing and eating.

Never during that whole time, says the observer, did he find any evidence of poultry yard raids. But he did find plenty of destructive rodents. From March 8 until April 26, when the young owls started out with their parents to learn the hunting game themselves, he saw in their nest nine rabbits, ten rats, three mice, one weasel, two pigeons, one robin, one flicker and one sapsucker.

"With the exception of the three birds," he says,

"every single kill these owls made was of value to the farmer and all others who are bothered with rodents. Yet the death sentence has been passed upon them because they kill one thing the hunter wants to kill himself."

"Every year," he adds, "as civilization makes its cruel advances, the natural enemies of the rats, mice, rabbits and weasels are becoming fewer in number, but a walk through any meadow or grain field will give to the satisfaction of any careful observer that there are still plenty of rodents. Therefore, more than ever before, farmers need the help of hawks and owls, the best rodent exterminators gun and powder have left in this region."

The Question of Food

San Francisco Chronicle.

Two-thirds of the people of the world live in countries bordering on the Pacific and it is coming to be a question of what they shall all eat. In many countries it is already coming to be a question which is hard to answer. The time may come when it will be perplexing to everybody.

There is to be held a food conservation congress at Honolulu from July 31 to August 15 next, at which President Coolidge, honorary president of the congress, will send a personal representative bearing a paper contributed to the congress by the President of the Republic, who himself comes from a section of our country whose inhabitants have to be partially fed from outside.

Enthusiasts in incipient starvation hold and declare that the world must as rapidly as possible increase its food production by two or three times. As there are few great evils without some corresponding good, that statement should bring joy to the downtrodden American farmer, who is in possession of more food than he can eat or sell.

While the present generation and those of the immediate future can be fed from the products of the earth, the food question is after all the most important of all questions for all the people everywhere all the time.

The congress of Honolulu is recognized as a very important gathering. It will not be a huge popular outpouring, but it will be attended by many of the most distinguished scientists of this and many other countries.

Fly-Fighting Time

Stockton Independent.

When "swat the fly" first became a national war cry, people were surprised to find how effective their efforts against the fly nuisance could be. There really were fewer flies about in communities which took swatting as seriously as they have taken manjong during the past winter.

Then there seemed to be a relaxation from this very work and last summer flies reappeared in many a family dining room that had been free of them a year or two before. It is because of that cessation of effort that the call to arms of health officers in various sections of the country today deserves special mention. It is again time to swat the fly. Authorities assure us that a swat in time saves more than nine times nine swats, that every fly killed at this season means literally hundreds fewer to struggle against later.

Now, too, is the time when we have energy to push this campaign vigorously. In midsummer, when it is an effort even to frighten a fly away with a wave of the hand, few persons have the will to take the deadly swatter up and actually slay every fly that buzzes within earshot.

And along with swatting, it is well to see that the lid of the garbage can still fits properly, that all the screens are in good condition—and in place—and that any other possible precautions against the fly are taken in time.

Enduring Friendship

San Francisco Chronicle.

The friendship between Canada and America, which has endured for more than a century, was pledged anew recently at Washington. The occasion was the hanging of a painting of the late President Harding, the gift of the Vancouver, B. C., Sun, to the newspaper men of the United States.

Really, there never has been a feeling between the two nations that they were a people separate and apart. Although they dwell under different flags their interests are more or less in common. Their purposes, their ideals, are pretty much alike. They are neighbors of the character whose admiration and respect for each other are too strong to be swayed by petty and inconsequential bickering. No fortified fences mark their dividing boundary line.

The happy and friendly relations existing between Canada and the United States set an example the rest of the world might follow with advantage.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

THE STRAIGHT TALK.

I was reading the instructions which the superintendent of a large tuberculosis sanitarium gives to a patient when he enters. After going into detail about the matter of the food, rest, later the exercise, and likewise about the care of the teeth, destroying the sputum, the long time required for recovery, and so forth, he makes one very striking statement:

"Remember your cure—and tuberculosis can now be cured—depends entirely upon your self. It is really up to you whether or not you get better. Your doctor will help and advise you all he can, but the cure of tuberculosis is now down to such a science that you are really the one who cures yourself."

"By obeying the directions to remain in bed when the temperature is above 99 F., by resting outdoors all day, and with the window open at night, by starting the light exercise when the time comes; in fact, by carrying out your doctor's instructions, you will get well. It may be slow, very slow, but you can win out if you try."

It could not help but think how much these words meant to a patient at the outset of his months of separation from loved ones. They appealed to the real "stuff" that was in the patient, to help him to put up his best possible fight.

Anyone who has been around a sanitarium and has seen the same chap there, 'bed month after month, then up on the verandah for an hour a day for several more months, then walking slowly about the grounds for months, and finally raking the grass or actually cutting the grass with a lawn mower, and looking the picture of health and strength, has perhaps felt like throwing up his hat on seeing the victory over what formerly was considered incurable.

And I have wondered further if it would not be wise for physicians to be just as frank with their patients who have other serious conditions, such as insufficient heart or kidneys, high blood pressure, and the like.

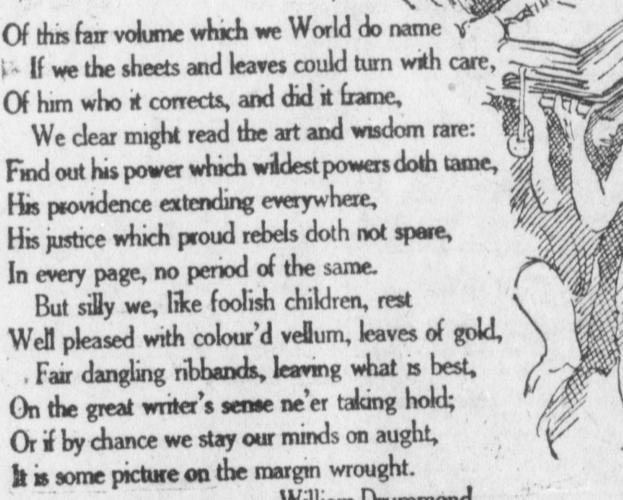

If the physician would simply sit down and explain the function of the heart, kidneys, and blood vessels, and the effect of certain foods and exercise thereon. That some foods would be hard on the kidneys and blood vessels, and that certain heavy exercises might mean a dilation of the heart and death.

That, on the other hand, if the patient were willing to "play the game" and eat exactly the diet prescribed, and indulge in the light exercise suggested, that the condition of the kidneys and blood vessels would not get any worse, that the heart would actually get stronger, and that his life would be prolonged for years. I believe that almost everybody would be willing to co-operate with the physician if it were put up to him in this way.

SONNET: THE LESSONS of NATURE

A Magnificent Tribute

Redlands Facts

A great many regard the recent tribute paid to Calvin Coolidge by Nathaniel Elsberg, retiring president of the National Republican Club of New York as the finest, truest, and most appropriate that has been rendered since Mr. Coolidge entered public life. It is terse and to the point, and well merits wide publication.

Characterizing President Coolidge as "a man of plain living and high thinking, of dry humor and hard-headed honesty," Mr. Elsberg said:

"He is a man with none of the arts or graces which have been deemed part of the necessary capital for a political career; a man who in a vocal age is only vocal when real occasions make demand for it; a man with neither the dramatic touch which other leaders have possessed, nor the captivating personality or the appealing eloquence which have helped other men to power. He is strong because while his face is lifted to the stars he keeps his feet firmly planted on the ground."

The people of the United States are very weary of pomp and panoply, handshaking, baby-kissing, and all the arts and wiles of the political demagogue. They are ready for sterling integrity in administration and conscientious and painstaking effort to run the government engine at the highest efficiency without any dare-devil stunts and appeals to hysteria. They want a president who is just a science that you are really the one who cures yourself."

"By obeying the directions to remain in bed when the temperature is above 99 F., by resting outdoors all day, and with the window open at night, by starting the light exercise when the time comes; in fact, by carrying out your doctor's instructions, you will get well. THE HAPPIEST HEART

Who drives the horses of the sun
Shall lord it but a day;
Better the lowly deed were done,
And kept the humble way.

The rust will find the sword of fame,
The dust will hide the crown;

Ay, none shall hang so high his name
Time will not tear it down.

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast;

That found the common daylight sweet,

PROTECTING THE NAME

A London taxi driver, putting in a spurt to reach a railway station at a certain time, ran down a cart, upsetting the contents. A policeman, confronting the taxi driver, demanded his name. "Michael O'Brien," came the reply. "Indeed," said the policeman. "That's my name, too. Where do you come from?" "Cork."

"And so do I. Now just stand there a moment while I go over and charge this man with backing into ye."

Business and the College Man

By James Simpson, President of Marshall Field & Company in Yale Daily News.

The problem of problems confronting young men just leaving college and ready for entrance into the world of affairs is—What shall it be—agriculture or the trades, a profession or a business, science or art?

No individual, however wise and informed, can have the exact formula for the guidance of all youth at this critical period. The views presented here are in the hope that an individual experience and observation may be of value to those on the threshold of business life.

One who has the advantage of a college training ought to come to his work with a disciplined body, trained mind, generous spirit, and a determination to do something worth while in life.

Business is continually in need of new blood, to replace those passing out and to supply the increasing demand created by growth of population and expansion of activities. In former years the professions were the great aim of college graduates. Parents had a sentimental partiality for these callings and thought them the fitting place for their offspring. Students, too, were influenced by this sentiment. This tendency has brought about an excess of talent in professional occupations. Today the professions are to a degree overcrowded, as a result of which business life offers the modern college man excellent opportunities.

With the professional field well filled and the trades a more or less segregated division, educated men are more and more turning their attention to the many phases of commercial activity. Industry and commerce, banking and merchandising, are their arena. These branches long have beckoned to college men, often in vain. Those who ventured into business callings have found ample outlet for their academic training. Indeed, the fertile field the business world offers to organized minds has been a revelation to many a college man seeking a business career. I would say, select an institution of large size and known integrity. Apply for a position without regard to its remuneration. If you will supply courage and application, intelligence and enthusiasm, the rewards will come to you, whether you expect them or not.
